The Lady in Blue

The Seelbach's Resident Ghost

Arguably the most famous resident of the hotel, the Lady in Blue is one of the reasons why a lot of people flock to the hotel. There are various stories attached to the ghost but almost all of them agree that she is the ghost of one of the hotel's guests, Patricia Wilson. It was in 1936 when Ms. Wilson moved to Louisville from Oklahoma. She had recently separated from her husband of four years. In an effort to work things out with her husband, they both agreed to meet in Seelbach.

However, her husband never showed up. He was killed in a tragic car accident on his way to meet his wife. She was devastated by the loss and after a short time, she was found at the bottom of the service elevator shaft. People cannot agree if she jumped to her death or if she died by accident. In 1987, several people have reported seeing Miss Patricia Wilson in the hotel. Some claimed to see her on the 8th floor of the hotel while others claimed to see her on the hotel's mezzanine. However, all the guests agree that the woman they saw wore a blue dress and had long black hair.

Great SERVICE!

Staying at the Seelbach Hilton in Louisville was an exquisite experience. The historic architecture and refined decor created an ambiance of timeless elegance, complemented by a spacious and impeccably clean room. Dining at the Oakroom restaurant was a culinary delight, with each meal surpassing expectations. The service was exceptional, particularly from the valet, Faris, who was extraordinarily helpful and responsible. His professionalism and attention to detail ensured our stay was seamless and stress-free, leaving us eager to return.

This hotel is a gem! The history is incredible and Kevin, the concierge was a wealth of knowledge and our personal tour guide. We had some delicious bourbon and cocktails at the Old Seelbach Bar and had a blast exploring the premises. And its steps from 4th Street Live. Will definitely come back. -Heather H
